

Why you need Maildistiller!

Addresses employer's duty of care for profanity/pornographic content

Maildistiller filters out SPAM based pornographic content, supporting your legal requirement to take reasonable precautions to avoid such emails entering company inboxes. Additionally, Maildistiller removes all viruses that threaten the safety and functionality of your systems, ensuring only pure, clean email is delivered.

Faster internet connections

Maildistiller helps you maximise the efficiency of your existing infrastructural investment! Maildistiller releases bandwidth by removing up to 70% of the junk that enters your network. As a result of reducing this junk, you immediately benefit from a faster internet connection, increased efficiency and storage capability on your server, and the requirement for email based server maintenance is significantly reduced.

Zero email downtime for your number one communications medium

In the event that your internet connectivity fails or your mail server goes off-line, Maildistiller will queue your mail until you come back online. It ensures no loss of business critical email and allows for business continuity. With our proactive management solution, Maildistiller will even notify you in the event of your service going offline.

Prevention of distributed denial of service attacks (DDoS)

A distributed denial of service attacks (or DDoS) is aimed at crashing your server. A DDoS works by sending large volumes of spam to your server. The resulting effect is that the service is denied and the server fails or crashes. Maildistiller will stop this occurring by preventing large volumes of spam mail reaching your corporate network, ensuring you are available for business at all time.

A maintenance free service via internet based servers

Maildistiller operates externally to your organisation, with no additional hardware or software required.

This eliminates the risk of any software conflicts occurring. Our service is managed automatically 24 hours a day, 7 days a week to ensure that your company is always protected and it is significantly faster than any in-house solution. The result is superior, hassle-free protection with no requirement for any intervention on your part.

Virus free mail

Maildistiller offers protection against the threats posed by email based viruses. These threats are removed before they ever reach your network so they haven't the opportunity to cause any damage to your computer systems or the stored data. This protection is backed by a 100% guarantee, giving you complete peace of mind that you are fully protected.

Taking away the time wasting grief that is spam

Currently 70%+ of all email is spam. This translates to significant financial losses for businesses annually due to the huge reduction in employee productivity, caused by the amount of time they spend sifting through spam email daily. It's not only laborious and demoralising for staff, but material of an offensive nature can additionally cause embarrassment and be uncomfortable for employees.

And many many more! Get in touch today to find out how the Maildistiller service can help your organisation become better protected and more efficient!

